Good Food – low carbon food projects

Who am I and why am I here?

Steve Hallett (he/him),

MA, PgCert Student Engagement in HE, BA (Hons), LEAN, CL

Hampshire Cultural Trust Environmental Sustainability Manager

Winchester Food Partnership Campaign Coordinator

Climate Reality Leader

Winchester Food Partnership

What are the two project streams?

- Glasgow Food and Climate Declaration
- Every Mouthful Counts Toolkit
- The Planet Pledge

- Embed Good Food into the WeCAN Campaign
- Raise public awareness of the carbon footprint of food
- Support community groups to act on Good Food

Why do they exist?

The UK will not reach its commitment to Net Zero by 2050 without transforming how land is used and reducing food waste and consumption of the most carbon-intensive foods. We believe local authorities and local communities have a crucial role to play.

We need your help to get your local area taking action to reduce the impact of food on our planet.

We believe that to drive a shift towards healthier and more sustainable food requires high public awareness of food issues and widespread participation in food-related activity, by both individuals and institutions, as part of a growing movement of active food citizenship.

Signatories

Why is it important?

Food and the Climate and Nature Emergency

The food system contributes about 30% to global greenhouse gas emissions – more than transport or energy - and industrial farming is the leading cause of the decline of wildlife in the UK, antibiotic resistance and zoonotic diseases.

Additionally, a third of the food we produce goes to waste. Improving the food, farming and fishing system is therefore one of the essential and large-scale ways to help avert climate change and restore nature.

For every £1 spent on local enterprises, as further £3-4 is invested in the local economy

What do you want?

Co-creation

Support

Advice

How to get involved

Take the Planet Pledge!

Investigate signing the Glasgow Food and Climate Declaration

Contribute to the creation of the Good Food section of the WeCAN Knowledge Library

Email: food@winacc.org.uk

Thank you

Email: GoodFoodWinchester@gmail.com

Esmée Fairbairn FOUNDATION

COMMUNITY FUND